

Professional Development for Managers and Employees

THE ATTITUDE VIRUS

Attitudes are contagious.

Great leaders and high-performance employees have one thing in common, they know that attitudes are contagious. One bad attitude can infect your entire organization. Attitudes aren't easy to talk about with people. In this program, you will learn to identify the seven most common attitude virus carriers and how to protect yourself and your organization from them.

We will discuss "The Seven Carriers":

- ✓ The Steamer, who blows their lid
- ✓ The Perfectionist, who wields 'quality' like a weapon
- ✓ The Resister, who is threatened by change
- ✓ The Not-My-Jobber, whose narrow views block progress
- ✓ The Rumor Monger, who spreads stories everywhere
- ✓ The Uncommitted, who simply doesn't care
- ✓ The Pessimist, who expects the sky to fall no matter what

If you spot any of the following warning signs, an attitude virus could be spreading through your team or throughout the whole company: resisting change, lack of commitment, spreading gossip, misdirected anger, and condescending perfectionism.
